Blue: the Transit Store... the greenest store in downtown!

Now there’s an easier way to access Big Blue Bus Customer Service: come visit our new location at 223 Broadway, just southwest of the Third Street Promenade. A combination transit store and customer service center—officially named 'Blue: The Transit Store'—has replaced the old service center at 1660 7th Street. Conveniently located in downtown Santa Monica, the Transit Store is open Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Saturdays from noon to 6 p.m.

Blue: the Transit Store is the new home of our customer service staff, who respond to more than 5,000 calls and help hundreds of walk-in customers each month. Store visitors can pick up tokens, Little Blue Cards and other fare media, maps and schedules, get help with trip planning and obtain various IDs. Fun new items on sale include transit-oriented and environmentally friendly clothing and accessories and beach-themed goodies.

Our eco-friendly transportation boutique is a modern, “green” retail space that incorporates innovative materials into nearly every inch of its 900 square feet—floors made from recycled tires, walls of renewable straw-board, counters of recycled paper and solar panels that light the exterior of the store. Try traveling green with us—visit Blue: the Transit Store at 223 Broadway Avenue, or call (310) 451-5444 for more information.

Served by Big Blue Bus Lines 1, 3, 4, 7, 8 and 9, as well as the Tide Ride.

Enjoy outdoor ice skating this holiday season in Santa Monica!

Balmy temperatures, festive decorations, and ice—real ice! Visitors to Downtown Santa Monica will have it all this holiday season when the parking lot at the corner of 5th Street and Arizona Avenue will be transformed into a 6,000 square-foot ice skating rink in November. Everyone will be able to glide, slide and spin in a real winter wonderland, thanks to a partnership of the Bayside District Corporation, the City of Santa Monica and a local business that is bringing this magnificent fair-weather skating rink to our fair city.

“We hope it will become a tradition,” said Debbie Lee, director of marketing and communications for the Bayside District. “We have a lot of great holiday events taking place on Third Street Promenade and at Santa Monica Place this year as part of the Winterlit celebration. The addition of the rink will really help to create a fun and festive atmosphere Downtown.”

The rink will be open from November 21, 2007 to January 6, 2008; admission is $10 including skate rental. Put on your hat and scarf and join the fun on the ice!

A new year coming, a new budget in the works

As 2008 rolls into view, city staff is beginning to develop the Fiscal Year 2008-09 budget. This effort involves balancing revenues and expenditures and the challenge of financing a range of ongoing and unfunded projects, services and programs within an uncertain economic climate of slowed growth and possible recession. The focus will continue to be on completing significant infrastructure projects, addressing key community priorities and strengthening core services while stabilizing city revenues.

As SeaScape went to press, the City Manager and staff were continuing neighborhood meetings begun in early November to talk about community priorities and how they are integrated into the budget process. We invite all who live and work in Santa Monica to help the City Council and city staff plan for 2008-09, by identifying the services, programs and projects they believe are essential to the city’s continued progress and those that are less important. Submit suggestions in one of five ways: 1) on the city’s website (click on the “Budget Suggestions” link on the home page at www.smgov.net); 2) attend the January 8 Council meeting where budget priorities will be discussed, beginning at 6:45 p.m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall; 3) e-mail to budget@smgov.net; 4) mail to the City Council, 1685 Main Street, Room 209, Santa Monica 90401; or 5) fax to (310) 917-6640.
$100,000 Grant Aids Pier’s 100th Anniversary Celebration

The City of Santa Monica and the Santa Monica Pier Restoration Corporation (PRC) were awarded a $100,000 “Preserve America” grant to assist funding a yearlong celebration and marketing campaign to promote the Santa Monica Pier’s 100th anniversary on September 9, 2009. The Preserve America grant program, administered by the National Park Service, supports preservation efforts through heritage tourism, education and historic preservation planning in designated Preserve America communities. The City of Santa Monica received the designation in 2004.

“This was outstanding news to kick off planning for the 100th anniversary celebration,” said Ben Franz-Knight, executive director of the PRC. “This funding will go a long way in making sure [our] program is worthy of the pier’s 100-year history, and that it features the caliber of events that our residents and visitors expect and deserve.”

The grant, which requires matching funds to be raised through sponsorship, donations and other sources, will be used to create a calendar of events and educational programs tied to the theme, “One hundred years in the past, one hundred years in the future.”

Watch for more information about the Pier’s 100th anniversary celebration in future editions of SeaScape and on-line at www.santamonicapier.org

Working Together to Reduce Gang Violence

Communities across the nation struggle with gang violence. The majority of gang-related incidents that have taken place in Santa Monica in recent years are primarily attributable to gangs with roots in West Los Angeles, Venice and Mar Vista, an indication of larger regional issues.

In 2003, City Council placed enhanced safety and quality of life for residents of the Pico Neighborhood at the top of its community priorities. Since then, the city has worked with local non-profit agencies, Santa Monica College, the school district, the Chamber of Commerce and neighborhood associations to find solutions to the underlying causes of gang violence, as well as to support affected youth and families. These efforts include:

- Engaging young people before they become involved in gang activities through presentations by the Santa Monica Police Department in schools and after-school programs such as the Police Activities League.
- Supporting a $25.1 million Council-approved youth budget for after-school and park programs, The Cove skatepark, recreational swim and lessons at the swim center, teen programs and employment services, among many other enrichment activities. Funding is also provided to nonprofit organizations offering community- and school-based programs for youth and families.
- Offering monthly workshops at Virginia Avenue Park on a variety of topics related to the challenges of parenting older youth.
- Teaching key life skills to older youth seeking to leave the gang lifestyle behind through Virginia Avenue Park’s Night Bridges Program, funded by the US Department of Justice.
- Participating in a Regional Gang Task Force with other local law enforcement agencies.
- Aggressively investigating gang-related crime, such as the string of increasingly violent incidents, including two homicides and several shootings, that occurred over a three-year period and ended in 2007 with the arrest of several West L.A. gang members.

JOIN THE EFFORT TO SHAPE THE CITY’S FUTURE

The Planning & Community Development (PCD) Department continued its “building blocks” approach to formulation of the General Plan Land Use and Circulation Elements (LUCE) with two well-attended workshops in October. More than 140 people assembled on October 6 for a lively discussion on “complete streets” designed to serve the needs of people using all types of transportation. Popular ideas included biking, walking and transit opportunities to allow travelers to avoid congestion, and “safe routes to schools” programs. Other recommendations included:

- Design streets to reflect the adjacent businesses and neighborhoods, i.e., pedestrian and/or bicycle focus, transit-oriented or automobile-serving;
- Develop transportation strategies that acknowledge the connection between quality of life, congestion, economic well-being, sustainability, active living, etc.;
- Understand contributors to traffic and identify solutions that respond to its different causes;
- Create more neighborhood-serving uses or better mixed-use development;
- Use technology to improve parking management; and
- Step up efforts to create a better bicycle, transit and pedestrian network throughout the city.

On October 25, PCD staff led a follow-up industrial lands workshop, offering proposed principles and land use options for these areas based on input received at the first workshop in July. 120 participants responded with their ideas about Expo light rail station location and track alignment, preferred locations for mixed-use, transit-oriented development, industrial preservation opportunities for arts and industrial uses, affordable and workforce housing, open space and more.

A second transportation workshop will be held in December, to be followed by others on economic development, housing, the boulevards and transportation. This input will guide the first draft of the LUCE plan, expected to be released in the spring. Download recordings of past workshops and get project information at www.shapethefuture2025.net.

HELPING YOU DO BUSINESS RIGHT...

“Business” means any business, commercial enterprise, trade, calling, vocation, profession, occupation or means of livelihood, whether or not carried on for gain or profit. You may need a Santa Monica business license if you:

- Work out of your Santa Monica home
- Collect rent on property owned in Santa Monica
- File a 1099 or Schedule C with your income tax returns
- Are registered with the state as a corporation or partnership
- Operate a business at a Santa Monica commercial location

All Santa Monica businesses are required to obtain a city business license within thirty days from starting operation. The business license office can help you register your business to operate in compliance with the Santa Monica Municipal Code, and can answer any questions you may have about the requirements and process.

Find out more or apply for a license on-line at www.smgov.net/finance.

For assistance in determining if you need a license, please call (310) 458-8745 or e-mail license@smgov.net.

CHANGE IS GOOD... BUT THE CARD IS BETTER!

If you’ve always wanted to park at parking meters without worrying about the amount of change in your pocket, we have the card for you.

The SantaMoniCard can be used at all city parking meters (except multi-bay meters), and is reloadable so you can use it over and over again.

The SantaMoniCard is now available at the following locations:

- City Hall, Treasury/Revenue, 1685 Main St., Room 103
- Main Library, 601 Santa Monica Blvd.
- Transportation Management Division Parking Office, 429 Santa Monica Blvd., Suite 350

CITY TV HIGHLIGHTS

“IT’S YOUR CALL” GOES PRIME TIME!

Join us on Wednesday, November 28, as “It’s Your Call: Homelessness in Our Community” goes prime time on CityTV. From 8 to 9 p.m., viewers are invited to call hosts Stephen Solomon and Ralph Saltzman to ask questions, share solutions and discuss the issue of homelessness in the Los Angeles area, including Santa Monica. This special edition of “It’s Your Call” on CityTV cable channel 16 is brought to you by the City of Santa Monica in partnership with the Westside Shelter & Hunger Coalition and the Los Angeles Central Providers Collaborative.
A SIGN OF THE SEASON: OPPORTUNITIES FOR GIVING

The holiday season is a wonderful time to connect with the community and improve the lives of those around you. To make the most of your good intentions, please consider donating time, money or goods to the local, nonprofit service providers listed here as an alternative to leaving donated goods in parks or other public spaces, or giving handouts to people on the streets.

- CHAyASIS (310-401-9400) helps economically disadvantaged and homeless individuals through employment opportunities. Among the things most needed are interview clothes, non-perishable lunch items, and personal care products.

- OPCC (310-264-6646, Ext. 235) operates a network of shelters and services, providing assistance to low-income and homeless men, women and children. Individuals and community groups can “Adopt-A-Family” or sponsor a drive to collect toiletries, socks or canned food. OPCC will drop off and pick up containers for non-perishable food items. OPCC also needs groups year-round to prepare, cater and/or serve meals for its clients.

- ST. JOSEPH CENTER (310-396-6468, Ext. 310) aids low-income families and individuals. “Adopt-A-Family” by purchasing gifts and food scrip for those in need. St. Joseph Center also accepts unopened, non-perishable foods, diapers, socks and underwear (all sizes), toiletries and hygiene kits, and gift certificates for fast foods and movies.

- WESTSIDE FOOD BANK (310-828-6016, Ext. 12) distributes food to over 60 social service agencies in the area. Community groups can get involved by starting a food drive. WFB will drop off and pick up containers at your site. Donations of blankets, toiletries, towels and frozen turkeys are welcome throughout the holiday season.

For more information about these and the city’s other partner agencies, contact the Westside Shelter and Hunger Coalition at (310) 314-0071, or visit www.westsideshelter.org

BEACH SUMMIT HIGHLIGHTS RECENT PROGRESS, FUTURE IMPROVEMENTS

Santa Monica Convention & Visitors Bureau (SMCVB) hosted the second annual Beach Summit in September, kicking off the organization’s 25-year anniversary celebration. With more than 70 city officials, community leaders, residents and local business representatives in attendance, this year’s event looked at progress made in three key areas: environmental stewardship, amenities and services and safety perceptions.

“The 2006 Beach Summit effected dramatic and positive change in Santa Monica and we anticipate a similar trend from this year’s forum,” said SMCVB President and CEO Misti Kerns. “Suggestions taken at last year’s consortium resulted in the implementation of more than a dozen programs [that] provide residents and visitors with more amenities and services and . . . a cleaner and safer beach.”

Noteworthy among these programs are: the voters’ passage of Measure V to raise revenue for managing urban runoff, a “trash valet” service in busy areas of the beach during the summer; expanding the marketing of beach amenities via the city’s website; and installation of security cameras on the Santa Monica Pier and Third Street Promenade. The Santa Monica Police Department has also recently designated an officer to patrol the beach.

Projects scheduled for completion in 2007 and 2008 include improving pathway and freeway directional signage for getting to the beach, and developing a beach map to serve as an educational tool for beachgoers about water quality, available amenities and environmental stewardship of the beach.

For more information about the beach summit, contact the SMCVB at (310) 393-7593
SPECIALIZED FINANCIAL SERVICES ENABLE CITY RESIDENTS AND BUSINESSES TO GO SOLAR

After a rigorous selection process, Solar Santa Monica has selected four financial partners who will make available a variety of loans aimed specifically at financing the installation of solar systems and energy efficiency upgrades to homeowners and business owners. Having lenders who understand solar—its long life, its steady income stream and its value to the property—is essential to getting the kind of financing that will turn Santa Monica residents’ solar projects into reality.

These financial services are now available through Solar Santa Monica:

- ▲ secured and unsecured financing through certified contractors;
- ▲ “green” and sustainable lending;
- ▲ innovative, tax-based financing for large commercial and municipal projects; and
- ▲ lending exclusively for small businesses.

Solar Santa Monica participants receive a thorough, no-cost energy efficiency and solar assessment as a first step. This assessment is performed by a qualified expert who serves as an “honest broker” throughout the process, helping the participant understand all options, including financial. If a resident or business owner wants a solar proposal, Solar Santa Monica will refer one of its preferred providers, a pre-qualified group of experienced solar contractors. Those who elect not to install solar are offered referrals and discounts on products and services such as air conditioning, efficient appliances or specialized contractors.

For more information, call Solar Santa Monica at (310) 458-4992, or check out our website at solarsantamonica.com

GREEN BUSINESS CERTIFICATION PROGRAM:
The Little Engine that Could

Certified green businesses all share the same belief—that providing quality products and services to the community while minimizing their impact on the environment and human health will bring business success. A collaborative project of the City of Santa Monica, Convention & Visitors Bureau, Chamber of Commerce and Sustainable Works, the Santa Monica Green Business Certification Program (GBC) has continued to gain momentum and members since its introduction in the fall of 2006. Through a rigorous assessment and evaluation of numerous business practices—from office paper use and landscaping to energy efficiency and transportation—the GBC program certifies and recognizes those businesses in our community which have met established standards for conserving resources, preventing pollution and building a sustainable community.

In the past year, several new participants have joined the green business community, including a yoga studio, a health and beauty products retailer, a hotel, a wine bar/seasonal kitchen and even the Santa Monica Convention and Visitors Bureau. Green businesses are easily recognized by their GBC window decals and the GBC logo printed on their promotional materials.

We invite you to support Santa Monica’s certified green businesses; learn about them and their environmental profiles at www.smgb.org.

SANTA MONICA IS A SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITY

The 2007 Sustainable City Report Card is a snapshot of a larger on-line report (www.smedpd.org/scpr) describing the city’s progress in eight sustainability goal areas. Released in September, the Report Card highlights improvements and challenges in these areas, as well as many successes over the past year. Notable achievements for 2006/2007 include:

- ▲ SUCCESS WITH SOLAR: Solar Santa Monica has created the potential to become a net-zero energy city through deployment of energy efficiency and solar energy into the community. Twenty solar projects were installed last year!
- ▲ COLLECTING COMPOSTABLES: The city’s food waste composting program kept more than three million pounds of food waste from local restaurants out of the landfill last year.
- ▲ HELPING HOUSEHOLDS: The Household Hazardous Waste Facility has kept more than 133,000 pounds of hazardous materials out of the landfills. And this year, satellite battery collection sites were established throughout the community.
- ▲ BEAUTIFUL BEACHES: Santa Monica voters approved the Clean Beaches and Ocean parcel tax to fund a comprehensive, 20-year plan to improve water quality in Santa Monica Bay.
- ▲ BIKING IS BIG: Our innovative, free bike valet program parked 16,310 bikes at events around the city, the BIKE Santa Monica map was released and the design of Exposition Bike Way is underway.

Santa Monica’s sustainability efforts were among the first of their kind in the nation and have served as a model for a growing number of communities, academic institutions and businesses. Visit www.smedpd.org for more information.

NEW ECO-FRIENDLY MAINTENANCE FACILITY IN STORE FOR BIG BLUE BUS

The Big Blue Bus broke ground this fall on a new, state-of-the-art maintenance facility on the site of the current bus yard at 7th Street and Colorado Avenue. The new 66,000-square-foot facility will not only accommodate a larger fleet, it will also make improvements to meet the needs of busses that are more technologically advanced than ever.

It will feature the most advanced and sustainable building systems, construction materials and landscaping available today, including photovoltaic panels that collect power from the sun and supply energy to the buildings; recycled-content construction materials (concrete, steel, insulation, and gypsum board) to reduce landfill waste; and a reclaimed water irrigation system for landscaping, with water-efficient plants and materials.

The three-year construction project is expected to be completed in early 2010. Notes Big Blue Bus Fleet Supervisor Ralph Merced, “The expansion of the maintenance facility will allow us to have enough room to keep improving our services for many years to come.”

For more information, visit www.bigbluebus.com or call (310) 451-5444.
